TOWARDS A NEW THEATRE

40 DESIGNS FOR STAGE SCENES WITH
CRITICAL NOTES BY THE INVENTOR

Square Royal 4to, 21s. net.

DAILY TELEGRAPH:

“His Pictures are like dreams. Often he seems to achieve in line a beauty as vague and as pleasurable as that produced by Maeterlinck in subtly-chosen words. His work is beyond question stimulating, and causes us to look on the scenic art of the theatre with new and questioning eyes.”

Please send for Illustrated Prospectus.

A Christmas Garland

Crown 8vo, 5s. net.

“ ‘A Christmas Garland’ must be likened to his caricatures, for it is a book of caricatures, not graphic, but literary. What makes Mr. Beerbohm the easy leader amongst contemporary caricaturists is his power of caricaturing not merely the appearance, the physical attitude of his victims, but their mental and spiritual attitudes as well. So in ‘A Christmas Garland’ his caricatures of literary style are admirable, but even more admirable are his caricatures, by means of the sentiments expressed, of the intellectual colour of each writer.”—Evening Standard.

“ This is one of the most entertaining and best anthologies we have ever read.”—Daily Graphic.

By MAX BEERBOHM

Zuleika Dobson

A NOVEL. Crown 8vo, 6s.

“In a word, he has achieved a masterpiece. He has written a book in which wit and invention never flag; a book the writing of which he has enjoyed so tremendously that the reader enjoys it with him, as it were, personally, a book that is all of a piece, never halts, never drops; a book that is a sheer delight from cover to cover. Gorgeous, that is the adjective for it, that, and no other.”—ALFRED SUTRO in the Daily Mail.
